AAUP Statement on Governance at Colleges and Universities (1966)

“The variety and complexity of the tasks performed by institutions of higher education produce an inescapable interdependence among governing board, administration, faculty, students, and others. The relationship calls for adequate communication among these components, and full opportunity for appropriate joint planning and effort.”

Service Can be Frustrating / Rewarding

- This is true also for research and teaching
- Sharing often has a downside, along with important upsides.
